RESORT CENTER AGAIN AT PEACE AFTER WASHOUT

Business Houses Remove Debris of Storm From Doors and Claim Respite.

NO DEATHS REPORTED

Residents Brave Fire and Water to Gain Safety From Flood Rampages.

(By the Associated Press)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 16.—Merchants opened their doors for business today after a night spent in removing the wreckage and debris left behind by the flood and fire late Monday after a mountain cloudburst swept in torrents down the slopes and formed a raging flood through the principal streets and flames had enveloped an entire block threatening death to many inhabitants.

Central avenue, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was the scene of the worst part of the flood and hard work for 36 hours was necessary to open it for traffic. From this avenue the sanitary forces today are working out gradually into the rest of the damaged area.

Normal activities of the city had been resumed or were soon to be resumed. All utilities, gas, electric lighting, street car service which were put out of order, were again functioning.

One Serious Injury

Mrs. Kate Christensen is the only person known to have received serious injuries in the disaster. She is in a local hospital today still in a critical condition as a result of a crushed skull which she suffered when caught in her motor car by the torrent which swept her along for three blocks. Physicians despaired of her recovery.

When flames burst through the windows of the Grand Rapids hotel the flood was at its height, nine feet in many places.

Guests trapped in the Marquette hotel, the largest structure destroyed by the fire, escaped from the flames by leaping in to the roaring torrent which had been Central avenue, some with children in their arms or old aloft above the flood. Men and women braved the stream and waded or swam until snatched from the water to safety by others as they were swept along by the current, the rescuers grappling with them and dragging them to higher ground as fast as they came within reach. Ropes stretched by the firemen across the streets at intervals brought many to safety as they struggled against the current.

Nearly 100 automobiles parked on Central avenue were bowled along like chips on the top of the top of the flood.

The property loss is still undetermined but is roughly estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

DEATH ENDS ERA OF GOULD POWER

Wealthy Railroad Magnate is Victim of Pneumonia at French Resort.

(By the Associated Press)

MENTONE, France, May 16.—George J. Gould, American financier, who has been ill at Cap Martin near here for some time, died at 3 o'clock this morning.

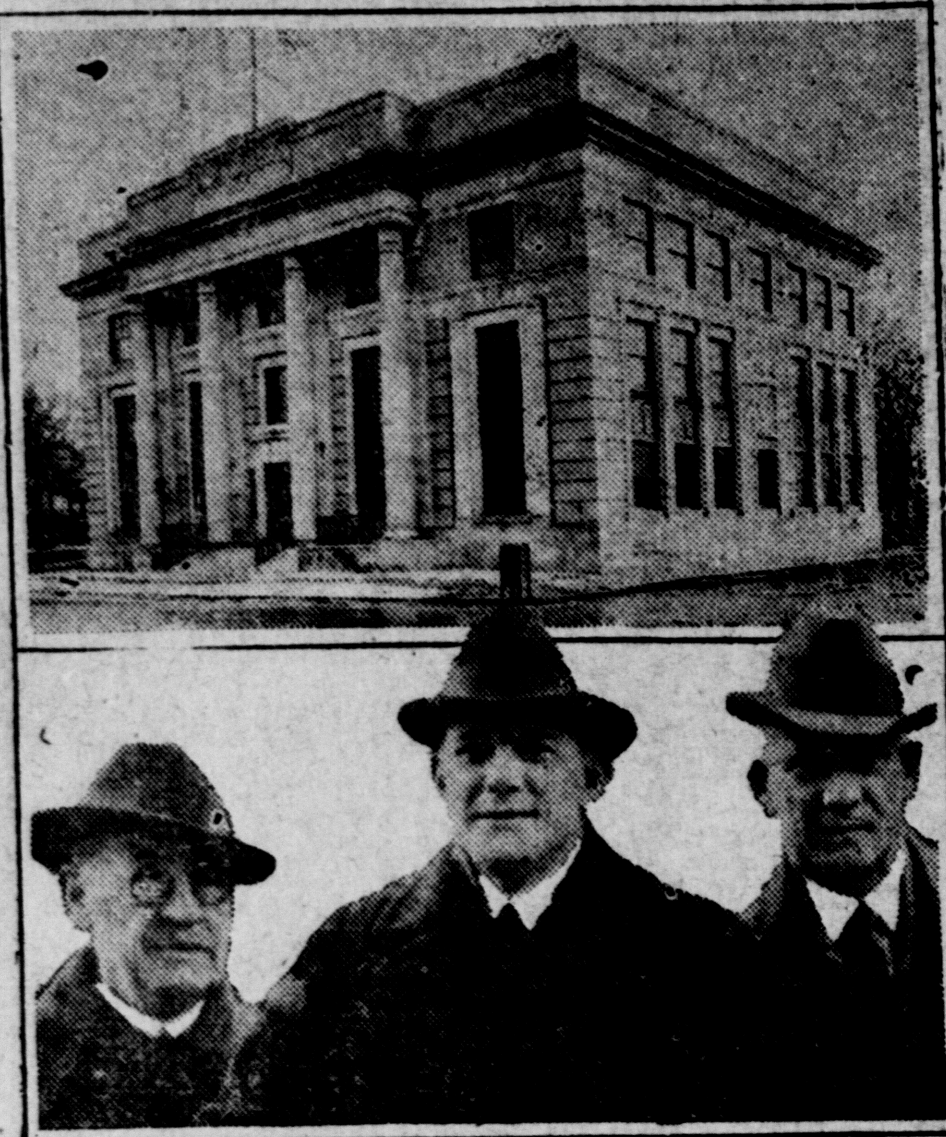

Mr. Gould was stricken with pneumonia on March 9 and for several days his condition remained critical, but rallied and on April 3 was said to be out of danger. Three weeks later, however, he suffered a relapse and on May 3 took a turn for the worse. The end came peacefully. Gould's wife and two children were at his bedside.

George Jay Gould, financier and railroad man, succeeded to the leadership of the famous Gould family upon the death of his father, Jay Gould, December 2, 1892.

In addition to assuming responsibility, as trustee and executor, for the $80,000,000 estate left by his father, he carried on and expanded the great railroad holdings of the latter, and within a few years, during which he applied the lessons learned from the elder Gould, he became one of America's foremost railroad financiers. The 6,000 miles of road left by Jay Gould grew into more than 20,000 miles under the management of his son, while the many investments in other huge enterprises, including the Western Union Telegraph

EAST CENTRAL TO SEND OUT RECORD CLASS THIS YEAR

Thirteen to Receive Degrees in Graduating Exercises for East Central.

BYNUM IS SPEAKER

Over 75 to Receive Life Certificates from East Central College.

East Central college will pause in its closing days of the school year and its educational service to this district Thursday morning when 13 students receive the highest honors bestowed by the school. Approximately 75 students will receive diplomas for high school work.

In sending from the institution the class of 1923, East Central college suffers the exodus of its largest graduating class to take up the education work in this district and other parts of the state.

The degree class of this year is larger than any class to be sent from the school and in many instances represents the concluding chapters of long years of continued search for more knowledge to better fit in the program of an educational life.

Several of the degree class finish their period of study in East Central after intermittent service in schools in this section of the state and represent a determination to receive the peak of instruction carried in the curriculum of East Central study halls.

Others receiving degrees have continued with steady progress their period of learning in East Central since their entrance as freshmen in the institution.

Faculty members agree that members of the degree class to receive their final awards from the college have been faithful to the school and have been in many instances the leaders in various phases of school activity.

Life Certificate Class Large

The class receiving life certificates represents the largest output of the college during its long years of service in an educational way in this district.

Many of the life certificate class students have already served in schools in the district and have returned to East Central to be better fitted in serving the educational needs of the district.

A good portion of the certificate class will take positions in schools in the district, others will continue work in the local institution.

The diploma class in high school will contribute in a large way to the college classes in the years to come. Approximately 45 students receive diplomas in this class.

Doctor Earnest T. Bynum of Oklahoma City, executive counselor of Governor, will deliver the baccalaureate address to the classes of East Central Thursday morning and in fitting terms speak of the problems of life confronting the graduate in his or her program of the future.

The Program:

Bond was temporarily refused in the case of Lander McMann, who was charged jointly with two others for possession of a still on account of alleged lack of sobriety, according to information from the sheriff's office.

McMann, who came to Ada Wednesday morning to make bond on felony charges, was placed in the county jail on a charge of being drunk in a public place to wit: the sheriff's office.

McMann had not appeared in the minor charge Tuesday morning and at that time bond had not been granted him in the felony case.

McMann was included in a raid on a still recently, when his alleged connection in the operation of the still was ascertained by county officers and he was sent word to come to Ada and make bond in the case.

McMann's untimely appearance prevented an immediate granting of bond.

NAME REWARD IN MOUNT MYSTERY

Trustees Advance $10,000.00 for Information on Student's Death.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 16.—A reward of $10,000 was offered today by the trustees of Northwestern university at the request of Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of the university, for definite information that would clear up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Leighton Mount, the freshman who disappeared on the night of Sept. 21, 1921, after a class rush.

Eight hundred students of the university at a chapel meeting called by the student council today unanimously adopted a resolution unqualifiedly expressing confidence in President Walter Dill Scott and expressing disapproval of the methods of investigators into the disappearance of Leighton Mount.

The resolution was drawn up by the student council president, James Patterson, an athlete and popular student. In an address to the council, Patterson declared that the administrative officers and the student body were being "maligned and lied about" when beyond all doubt all that the university sought was the truth in the case; that every effort was being made to make President Scott the victim.

CLAIM CROCKER WIDOW HAS FLAW IN RIGHTS

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN, May 16.—Allegations that Mrs. Baulah Crocker was already married when she went through the marriage ceremony with the late Richard Crocker, Tammany Hall chieftain, were made in the court of appeals here today on behalf of Mrs. Ethel C. White of Cedarhurst, New York, in connection with litigation over the Crocker will.

This afternoon the court of appeals granted the application on behalf of Mrs. White to intervene in the probate action against Mrs. Crocker. The intervenor's plea gives G. R. Maroney as the name of the previous husband of Mrs. Crocker.

Attorney Gellert testified that the marriage of Baulah to Maroney was solemnized at Northampton, Massachusetts, in September, 1911, and that the couple lived together about 16 months.

NET CAST AGAIN FOR OCEAN BARS

Reports Indicate Rum Runners Again Active on East Coast.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 16.—The government, which announced yesterday that plans were being made to smash a rum ring alleged to be bringing liquor from Miami to Boston, today obtained eight federal warrants charging conspiracy to violate the Volstead law. More warrants will be issued soon, it was said.

One of those issued today was for Alfred E. Corn of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, alleged to be the supercargo of the British steamer Yankton, which yesterday came into port out of food and fuel. It was from the captain and crew of the Yankton that United States Attorney Hayward claimed to have learned of the manner in which the rum runner worked.

ST. JOHN, New Brunswick, May 16.—Despite reports from New York that the United States government is waging a vigorous war on the rum fleet along the Atlantic seaboard, the liquor trade is picking up briskly now that the storms are believed to have passed. Rum schooners reported to be headed for the Jersey coast are putting out almost daily.

The schooners' clearance papers mention ports in the West Indies, but the water front only smiles. Vessels arriving from southern waters in ballast tie up to a wharf a few days then slip quietly down the harbor. Receiving their cargoes of rum, they glide silently out to sea without attracting much attention.

Three schooners exceptionally heavily loaded are alleged to have cleared this week.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 16.—Dr. Felix Rinsak, dentist and artist of New York and Chicago, today was arrested charged by government secret service men with possessing plates for the making of counterfeit money. Dr. Rinsak explained that the photographic plates of United States currency were intended to be used in the making of imitations on leather wallets. He showed his application for a copy right on the idea when brought before United States Commissioner Glass.

HARDING HINTS REPEAL OF RUM LAW CONFLICTING

Intimates Action of Smith in Liquor Decision Would Bring Rupture.

TREASON IS HINTED

President Points to Lincoln's Advice on Slavery Conditions in Country.

(By the Associated Press)

NEWBURGH, N. Y., May 16.—The repeal by the state of New York of the liquor enforcement law would likely result in more or less conflict between the state and federal authorities, in the opinion of President Harding.

The views of the president were expressed in a letter to Wesley Wait of this city made public today. The bill passed by the legislature repealing the act is awaiting action by Gov. Smith.

Mr. Wait wrote to President Harding urging that if Smith should sign the bill congress should be convened and the governor and members of the legislature who voted for the legislation be suspended.

"Every state official who voted for this bill is subject to the law against treason, having taken an oath to sustain the constitution of the United States," Mr. Wait's letter to the president said. In his reply Mr. Harding said in part:

"Uses Lincoln Statement.

"Mr. Lincoln said at the time when slavery was a recognized institution throughout a considerable portion of the Union, that the nation could not exist half slave and half free. That expression has been accepted ever since as perfectly obvious and the logic of the situation which then confronted the nation certainly would have been still more impressive if there had been at that time a constitutional provision against slavery as there is now a constitutional provision against the liquor traffic.

"The nation has deliberately, after many years of consideration, adopted the present policy, which is written in the 18th amendment. It is the law of the land and every state within the union. So long as it remains the national policy there can be only one course for the national government to pursue. That is to use every means to make effective the law passed in compliance with this constitutional provision. The executive of the nation and equally the executives of the states are sworn to uphold the constitution. I venture if by any reason and the refusal or failure of any state to perform its duty in such connection, the federal government would be compelled to enter the territory and jurisdiction of the state more or less conflict between the state and federal authorities would inevitably result."

Late Problems Talked In Washington

By Frederick Richardson
Washington Corresponding of The Ada Evening News
WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Harding's appeal to the General Federation of Women's Clubs to support his campaign to put the United States into the League of Nations Court foreshadows the president's method of battle on the big question.

It has been known for some time the president believes the women of the country will be with him, and the well known aversion of women to wars in which their sons must fight and die will be played upon to the limit by both the president and the other pro-court advocates.

"Women are too well read, they now know too much about the situation in Europe to be misled by arguments about the court being the way to avoid future wars," said one prominent anti-court senator to the writer recently.

The view at Washington is that the women are as well or better posted, perhaps, on the European dangers than the men are.

Other political prophets, however, believe the president will win the women to his support. At all events the women will be the deciding factor in the president's fight to go in to the World Court. If the women's clubs over the country repudiate the idea of the court—Mr. Harding will lose his fight.

The "Dry" Situation.
The "wets" are jubilating over the action of the New York legislature. The "drys" are grim. Wayne B. Wheeler, leader of the prohibition forces, does not say much. But the action of the New York legislature in repealing the state prohibition enforcement law—leaving it up to the federal government to do the enforcing—has created a political stir of great moment.

One point apparently overlooked by the "wets" in their winning of the legislature was the old state law making it a felony to sell liquor without a license. If the state does not repeal that statute and does not enforce it, the government may step in and force prosecutions under the state act.

That New York will be flooded with enforcement officers is certain. That, with the Canadian boundary an open gateway, it will take a young army of prohibition officers to handle the situation, is equally certain. Even now charges of collusion between state officials and police and bootleggers are flying back and forth. These will multiply as time goes on.

With senators and representatives like Sterling of South Dakota and Graham of Illinois, denouncing the action of the state as a disgrace, and a blot on the escutcheon of the United States, the act is looked upon here as having done more to break down the law and all respect for the Constitution than anything that has happened since the days of war profiteering and the sugar scourge.

Captain W. H. Stanyon, leader of the "wets," is jubilant. He regards the move as the first reaction of the country against the Volstead law. But students of the situation here see only a mighty powerful "wet" lobby, well organized, with plenty of money, plus a queer combination of legislators who sometimes happen to get into office at the same time.

Yet it is possible that New York may lead the about face on the Volstead act. But the utmost the "wets" could accomplish would be a compromise with the democratic part on a "state's rights" platform, leaving the enforcement of prohibition up to the states.

Talking Pictures.

Talking pictures are here. Dr. Lee De Forest, famous inventor, has perfected the "phobofilm"—or talking picture, and it has been demonstrated in New York successfully. Instead of using a photograph, the picture and the sounds are literally photographed on the film at the same time—in synchronizing. It reproduces the sound waves as retransmitted from light waves back into telephonic currents, amplified 100-000 times, and turned back into sound through "loud speakers." The music, the words of the actors and actresses are distinct and clear.

The use of the new invention will call for a much higher class of acting before the camera in future, since the actors and actresses must not only "film" well, that is, be good photographic subjects, but they will have to have certain toned voices which will register well, and much greater histrionic ability than some of them seem to possess.

More Beauty—More Cost.

If commissioner Oyster of the District of Columbia has his way the people of the United States will have the most beautiful river in the world in the historic Potomac—even if most of them never do get to see anything more than pictures of it.

Oyster's plan is to beautify the river by etching it out in marble, quayed and copied in a magnificent, outstanding the most famous water-fronts of the Mediterranean. Miles of marble, polished as glistening in carved grandeur would be erected in walks, promenades, railings, copings and Italian quays. The cost would be tremendous, but, says commissioner Oyster in the words of Grover Cleveland, "What's a couple of million compared to what they can do." Except that the cost of the project would be somewhat more than a "couple of millions."

It is desired to beautify the waterfront so passengers on the steamships arriving at Washington, including foreign visitors, may get a good impression of Washington.

Congress will be asked to appropriate the money for the project. Its sponsors will not say what the sum involved will be—but it is planned to get the appropriations in installments and do the work a little at a time, as it is believed the money will be more easily secured from Congress in this manner.

Sugar to Go Up

Evidence presented at the government hearing at New York in which the attorney general made out a very weak case in his effort to curb the sugar profiteers, and in which not an individual responsible for the hold-up of the American people was exposed or even uncovered, shows the Department of Commerce didn't know what it was talking about when it corrected its report of a threatened sugar shortage. This evidence, of course, was presented by the sugar crowd.

The sugar dealers alleged the supply will be short the carry-over supply from last year being lower than in previous years, consumption increasing, present crop several hundred thousand tons less than estimated. The sugar price not only will stay up—but will go higher, is the confident assertion of the sugar profiteer. Unless the women's boycott so reduces consumption as to break the market, the American people may look forward to paying as much or more for their sugar than they did during the war.

Strange how the profiteers can discover short crops and low supplies when they want some additional money, isn't it?

Forests to be Saved

Forests are to be saved—again. Stripping of the forests will be stopped—it has been several times—almost. In fact it has been "being stopped" annually now for many years past in congress, but this time it is sure enough to be stopped—maybe. A senate committee composed of McNary of Oregon, Moses of New Hampshire, Cousins of Michigan and Fletcher of Florida have held hearings at Bay City, Mich., and Grand Rapids.

The lumber trusts are not worried.

Oil-Burning Merchant Fleet.

Walter Teagle, head of the Standard Oil corporation, helped the president and Chairman Lasker select new Chairman Farley for Shipping Board head. Looks as though they contemplated an oil-burning merchant marine.

McSwain can truthfully say that in offering a worthy picture rendering of this notable book by America's greatest author, he has added to the triumphs of his screen.

Here, in the depiction of the joys and sorrows of a typical American family, is true drama. Here, the familiar emotions, passions, hopes, longings, desires; the ambitious struggle that is so essentially a part of our National life, are presented by a company of players whose skillful impersonations are so real, so vivid, so truthful that the medium of the screen is forgotten.

The spectator—lost to his surroundings—laughs with Hedrick, the small brother; trembles with sympathy and yearns to help Papa Madison; he sorrows with Laura and howls with delight at the "sanitary engineer" and Wesley Tribble; shrinks at the audacity of Valentine Corliss, and—

—but who can describe what one feels as the swiftly moving story unfolds the arts, the wiles, the soft, purring femininity of Cora, "The Flirt," and her strange power of exciting both love and hatred for her own exquisite self?

Rarely, even in flesh and blood stage presentations, does a character grip and fascinate you as does Cora, "The Flirt."

VINITA.—The night of May 8 was the coldest May night here in twelve years, according to R. E. Moss, local weather observer. The thermometer fell to thirty-one and one-half degrees above zero, one-half degree below freezing. A hail storm was reported north of the city, leaving the ground white with stones, although it lasted only a few minutes. Crop damage has not been estimated.

STEEL NOW USED TO GRIND ROCKS

Flint Displaced to Grind Hard Substances in Modern Invention.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 16.—Just as iron gave way to steel a decade ago, now flint bows to the superiority of this competitor and steps gracefully out.

Importation of flint pebbles from France and Denmark for use in industries dependent on fine grinding of rock has practically been abandoned, due to the development of steel balls for this purpose, according to the Structural Materials Research Laboratory of Lewis Institute here. Some years ago there was a heavy demand for the flint stones, the bulk of which was obtained abroad.

These flint pebbles, according to the announcement, were used in the cement industry in the finer grinding operations, where limestone, shale and clay are reduced to fine powder. Preliminary crushing is done by a variety of methods, but the pulverizing was the work of pebbles.

Now steel balls are used, long cylinders known as ball or tube mills, are half filled with steel balls, and when the raw materials are put in, the cylinder is revolved. The balls climb the side of the cylinder and fall back on the raw material, pounding and rubbing it to powder. Some of the smaller machines will contain 10 or 11 tons of balls, while the largest ones need 34 to 38 tons. So thorough is the operation of the tube mills that the rock powder produced is finer than flour, and will pass through a sieve finer than silk.

Similar machines are used in grinding the glass-hard clinker to finished cement, which must pass an equally fine sieve test.

Although some of the California mills still use flint pebbles, which are found in that state, the majority of the plants use steel balls, from 7-8 of an inch to five inches in diameter. Last year well over 35,000,000 tons of raw materials and 20,000,000 tons of clinker were pulverized by the cement industry in machines of this type.

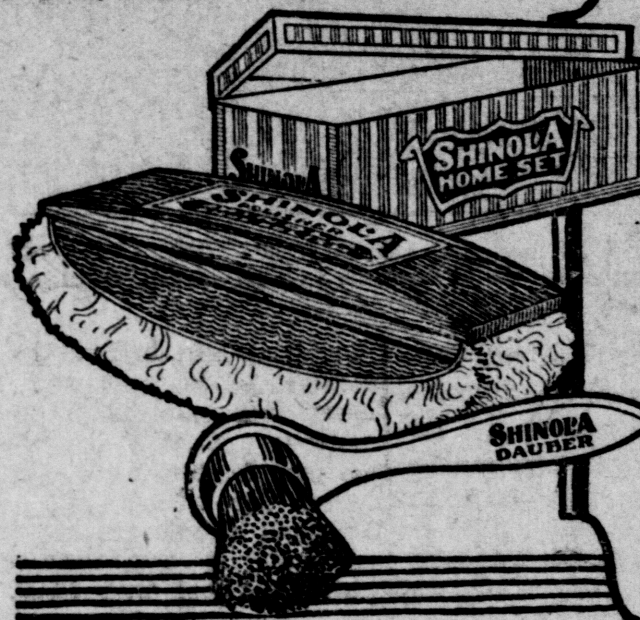

MAN LOSES HOPE

"For ten years I suffered severely from stomach trouble. The doctors said I had cancer of the stomach and nothing would do but an operation. I took my last round of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy 2 1-2 years ago. Since then I sleep well, eat what I want and feel fine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. adv.

HARD COURTS ARE WANTED BY BRITISH

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, May 16.—Tennis like everything else in these progressive days, has to conform to altered world conditions and, following the change from old to new Wimbledon and the abolition of "world's title" therefrom, comes the news that the British Davis Cup trial matches will probably be held on hard courts. This is in order that the selected players may be used to the courts on which most of the 18 competing countries play, and also to the probability that the British team will have to go to Belgium where hard courts are used.

These forthcoming trials, so far as England is concerned, are likely to bring out very little new talent, and the old county will have to rely on such old guards as Kingscote, Crawley, Gilbert, Lycett, Lowe, Max Woosnam, and Roper Barrett. The only new man mentioned with any pretensions to Davis cup form is the young 23-year-old South African, J. D. P. Wheatley, who has been educated here and has qualifications to play for Great Britain. Wheatley showed remarkable form recently when he won the Covered Courts Championship at Queens Club, beating in the final game the International Indian player, Doctor A. H. Fyze, three sets to one.

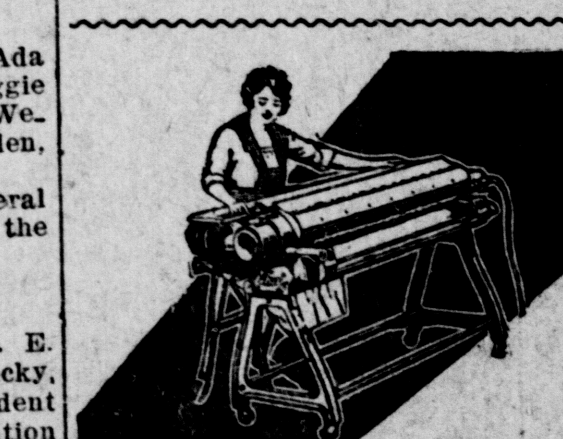

COLORED LIGHTING MAY DISPLACE WALLPAPER

(By the Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 16.—A method by which the mistress of the house may completely change the natural decorations of the entire domicile in less than five minutes is being devised here in the Nela Park research laboratories of the General Electric Company.

The new device, operated entirely by electric lighting is capable of throwing as many as fifty distinct wall paper designs on the walls of the room in less than sixty seconds, with practically no human effort save the movement of a tinted glass slide on which are arranged various colored daubings.

The effect is obtained by the use of a specially made magic lantern box, which when completed, may be concealed in the room and arranged so that the wall designs will be focused perfectly and changed at will. The colors, as well as the designs of the decorations, may be varied according to the effect desired. One may brighten the

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ALL NEEDS SUPPLIED: The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.—Psalm 23:1, 6.

HONOR THE FLAG

America is a forgetful nation; not purposely, per haps, but whatever the cause, the fact remains. There was a time that is within the memory of us all that the sight of the flag borne through the streets roused within us that feeling called "patriotism" and which is supposed to mean "love of one's country." Men have been inspired to follow that flag into battle, others whose work in times of national stress was in the home land have given freely of their time and money that its cause might triumph. The flag stands for the same high ideals in time of peace that it does in time of war. It should inspire the same national feeling.

Yesterday, that flad headed a procession through our streets. Its protecting folds covered the remains of one who had died in its defense. But few heads were uncovered the entire line of march. Even men who have been in the service and have grown an inch taller at the sound of the Star Spangled Banner at Retreat as they have seen the flag come fluttering down into waiting hands seemed to have FORGOTTEN the significance of that beautiful ceremony.—ADA HAS BECOME TYPICALLY AMERICAN.—A Legionnaire.

Keeping up with the fast steppers and high flyers has been the cause of much unhappiness in many homes. The fear that some one will have something of a slighting nature to say causes the greatest pain and many a man and woman has gone far beyond his or her means in order to put up a good front and keep people from making unkind remarks. They refuse to consider the future and never get a dollar ahead for their old age. They just put forth every effort to keep up with the procession, even though such a course means poverty and woe in the end. Appearances are all right, but they should have solid backing.

We have always been strong believers in the luck of Ada and the recent storms serve to conform our belief. They passed Ada up again, just as they have always done, so we are spared loss of life and property suffered by many other places during the twenty-odd years this place has been on the map. In all these years Ada has suffered no serious damage from storms.

If he signs the bill passed by the New York legislature to repeal prohibition enforcement laws, Governor Smith will line himself up definitely with the whiskey element and will doubtless be their candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency next year. Since Harding will without doubt be the Republican nominee, the wets will center their efforts on the Democratic convention and unless closely watched in the primary elections and conventions will stand a chance of getting away with it.

Strong opposition to Gov. Pat M. Neff as a possible choice for the presidency of the University of Texas is being voiced by the alumni of the University. We know nothing of the matter and are unable to say what qualifications the governor may have for the place, but we have always been decidedly of the opinion that a school man should be at the head of a school and were we still living in Texas we would be opposed to the governor or any other than a school man being chosen.

It is said that the original marathon dancer was a mail carrier who in the earlier days carried the mail on his back to remote settlements in the Northwest, traveling on snow shoes. One night he was caught in a blizzard and to keep from freezing danced all night on a rock. He lived through it and next morning shouldered his mail and went on his way. He had no partner and no jazz orchestra in that wild dance, but with death staring him in the face he needed no music or applause to keep moving.

If, as reported, the League leaders have consented to the side-tracking of George Wilson, he will doubtless feel that he has been made the goat. It is some joke on a fellow to organize a successful movement and have to stand off to one side and watch other fellows eat the pie he cooked. However, goats are said to thrive on tin cans and such truck.

The Farm and Ranch takes a rap at certain legislators at Austin, who, it claims, are stirring up trouble by trying to array one class of citizenship against another. Naturally the Farm and Ranch does not take kindly to such methods and expresses the hope that those members may be left at home next time.

Boosting is work, hard work for which one receives very little thanks, but results are what the boosters are after and they soon acquire rather thick hides from which safts of criticism glance off without inflicting harm.

BUT WHEN THE BIG BROKERS GET GYPED—HOW THEY HOWL!

The Forum of the Press

THE SAME OLD STORY

(Oklahoman)
It is not pleasant to contemplate the case of Judge Lucien B. Wright. There is nothing inspiring in the story of one elevated to the exalted position of district judge in a wealthy judicial district only to descend through the devious mazes of attempted disbarment proceedings and a bawdy house murder to a conviction of perjury by a jury of his peers. All fair-minded people will yearn to forget the sordid story of the Sapulpa jurist, who in a single season become a convict scheduled for a felon's cell.
But in the shameful story of Judge Wright there is abundant material to point a moral and adorn a tale. It is well for the youth of Oklahoma to contemplate his career, for it illustrates once more the age-old truth that the wages of sin is death. The dice with which the jurist played are always loaded, and the game he played has never been beaten from the beginning of time. He deliberately chose a way that leads to shame and when he first began his descent into the maelstrom his feet took hold of death.
At one time in his life the future shone with radiant splendor for Judge Wright. He had been honored by an honorable constituency. Before him lay an abundant opportunity to make a lasting reputation for himself among the people of his state. His abilities were fair and his energy sufficient. The supreme bench was ahead of him and even higher honors were within his reach. But he turned his ears to the song of the siren and fell forever from his high estate. The name that could have been crowned with exalted honors is now black with the mark of a felon's conviction. Let the youth of Oklahoma contemplate his career and learn once more of the soul that sins, that it shall most surely die.

A FAIRY TALE

(Tulsa Tribune)

Once upon a time women, in a class with criminals and idiots, were outlawed from participating in their government. That was changed but a few years ago, but already it seems a part of fairy lore which brings an incredulous smile that anyone ever seriously considered continuing that quaint practice. The laws correcting that injustice, however, have not been on our statute books long enough to remove the eons-old impression that women somehow are an inferior being, not equal to the possibilities of the masculine mind. It is illuminating therefore to observe the result of an investigation by the women's bureau of the United States department of labor, of the inventive accomplishments of women.

In the ten years studied it was found that more than five thousand patents were issued to women and that the patents ranged all the way from internal combustion engines and dirigible airships to voting booths and nose straighteners. Naturally the largest number of these patents were concerned with household equipment and articles for personal wear and use. Many of them, too, are labor saving devices for farm work. But by no means are they limited to these lines where women might be expected to shine.

Other patent applications, it is found, are for mining and quarrying devices; various processes of manufacture for which tools, machinery and methods have been devised; structural equipment, such as road conduits and housebuilding parts; transportation which includes all kinds of automobile accessories as well as airships, boats and many contrivances for steam and street railways; scientific instruments; ordinance, firearms and ammunition; medical equipment and a score of others. While many of those issued to men probably had their inception in the feminine mind, like the first patent ever granted to an American, to one Thomas Masters, for a new "invention" for cleaning and curing Indian corn "found out by Sybille, his wife."

And this in spite of the psychological handicap put upon them, bearing the same stamp which classed women with criminals and idiots in denying them the ballot. The bureau quotes on this an encyclopedia which says, in discussing patents, "women and minors, and even criminals may apply for patents under our law." How gracious the law.
There are and always will be fields of endeavor in which women are particularly effective. There are others where they are less so but the findings of the women's bureau into this invention business which has always been looked upon as more or less man's particular possession, is pretty clear evidence if further proof is necessary, that there is no field in which women cannot function and where they will not find ample opportunity for their abilities. The fairy tale winds surely to its happy ending.

MOROCCANS NEGLECT CHANCES FOR RICHES

(By the Associated Press)

ALGERS, Algeria, April 15.—Morocco, Algiers, and Tunisia, those rich but undeveloped French colonial possessions bordering the southern Mediterranean, could raise sufficient wheat and cattle to make France independent of the United States and Argentina, according to Major Charles E. Spratt, an American economic and corporation expert, who has just completed a 45-days' survey of these countries. He reports that they possess vast areas of rich soil and great tracts of fine grazing land. Yet, he says, the fields are idle and not a herd of cattle is to be seen.

The reason is that the natives of Morocco, Algiers and Tunisia are literally without mentality, and their French masters apparently make no efforts to develop them. Not only are they untutored intellectually, but the lack of those ordinary aptitudes that are required to raise a potato or to cultivate a blade of grass. The are satisfied to live and to work as little as possible. The French colonial policy seems to be to let sleeping dogs lie.

Major Spratt goes on to say that superb military roads are being built everywhere, as well as political residential and administrative buildings for the French executives and military staffs. One sees imposing public structures, military barracks, post offices and cafes, but never a railroad, a factory or a school.

SCHURMAN REPORTS NO CHINESE NEGOTIATIONS

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 16.—Minister Schurman reported to the state department today that no progress has been made in negotiations between the Chinese authorities and the bandit leaders for the release of Americans and other foreigners held captive in Shantung. The minister said that there were indications that the negotiations might drag on indefinitely.

Peking is surrounded by a wall fifty feet high and forty feet thick. The walled part of the city is sixteen miles in circumference.

Socialists in Austria May Release Old Standards and Plan State Reorganization

(By the Associated Press)

VIENNA.—A comprehensive plan for the reorganization of the Socialist International has been drafted by the executive committee of that organization at a two day session at Bregenz Austria, and has been forwarded to Hamburg for consideration at the Socialist International to be held there next month.

The main points of reorganization are set forth as follows: "In the Socialist Workers' International there shall be united those socialist workers' parties who aim to substitute the socialist mode of production for the capitalist mode of production and who regard class warfare as a means to the emancipation of the working classes.

"The S. W. I. assumes the task of unifying the activities of affiliated parties and combining the same in united action.

"The parties allied in the S. W. I. bind themselves not to belong to any federation outside of this existing political international association.

"The S. W. I. is only in such measure a living reality as its resolutions in all international questions may be binding upon all its parts. Every resolution of the international organization therefore means a self-sought curtailment of the autonomy of the party in the various countries.

"The S. W. I. is to be an institution not only for the solution of problems in time of peace, but also an indispensable instrument in time of war.

"During conflicts between nations the S. W. I. shall be looked upon by its affiliations as the highest court of appeal.

"The departments on which these tasks shall involve are: 1. The International Congress; 2. The Executive; 3. The Bureau; 4. The Business Commission; 5. The Secretariat.

Other proposals follow: "The congress shall be summoned by the executive when political events justify it, but in any case once in every three years. The next congress must meet at the latest in 1925. The executive shall be compelled to summon congress within the shortest time possible if called upon to do so by 10 affiliated parties.

"Only such parties shall participate in congress as are affiliated with the S. W. I. The question of affiliation shall be decided by the executive, subject to confirmation by congress.

"The S. W. I. finds in the unity of trade unionism, as represented by the Internationalen Gewerkschaftsbund (Amsterdam) an indispensable necessity for the successful waging of class war.

"The S. W. I. finds in the unity of the federative labor movement of the Internationalen Genossenschaftsbund (London) an extraordinarily valuable support for the working classes in waging class war.

"The S. W. I. will therefore remain in constant touch with the above named internationals and is prepared to hold, from time to time, in common with these international organizations, meetings and mass congresses of the working classes for the discussion of problems common to all these organizations."

A BIT OF ADVICE

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment

If you suffer from backache, headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Ada residents desire more convincing proof of their effectiveness than the statement of an Ada citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

Almon Griffin, 12th and Cherry Sts., says: "I have all the confidence in the world in Doan's Kidney Pills. There have been times when I have had severe attacks of pain in my back, just across my kidneys. Every move I made was a torture. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills for these spells and they have never failed to relieve me. I am glad to give them my hearty endorsement."

Chinese Gendarmes Board Trains and Seize Valuables

SHANGHAI, May 16.—Members of the Chinese gendarmes boarded a train bound from Peking to Shanghai today, attacked officials, beat Chinese servants who resisted, seized everything on the tables, and held possession of the train for several hours, it was learned when the train reached here this afternoon.

Finally consular officials aboard backed by Chinese officials prevailed upon the gendarmes to leave the train.

Kaiser's Summer Palace Now Home For War Orphans

At Corfu, Greece, a thousand orphaned Armenian boys are living in the former summer palace of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, says Charles V. Vickrey of Near East Relief. The picture shows the palace, Mr. Vickrey and a group of the refugees.

POETIC justice of a sort seldom met with outside story books has suddenly made its appearance on the Island of Corfu, according to Charles V. Vickrey of the Near East Relief, who has just returned from an inspection of the refugee centers in Greece. At Corfu Mr. Vickrey saw a thousand orphan boys, Armenians to whom Greece has given shelter, living frugally in a palace bearing every mark of regal splendor. It was the former summer palace of the German Kaiser, one of the finest and most beautifully equipped residences in the world.

"Observe the way in which Fate has operated," said Mr. Vickrey. "Nine years ago the Kaiser figured as War Lord of the world. The war left these thousand boys orphans because their parents and all known relatives were massacred or died of famine as a result of persecution by his allies the Turks. Today the Kaiser has lost his Empire and his throne; he lives in obscurity in Holland while the children whose parents he helped to send to their deaths are safe and happy in his palace at Corfu."

The former Emperor was recently reported to be contemplating a move to his Corfu palace where he thought his wife, the Princess Hermine, would be more comfortable than in Holland. For the Kaiser, it is said, is expecting a new addition to his family shortly. However, there is no room for any more children at Corfu, even children of a former Emperor.

The palace is only one of many buildings freely loaned by the Greek government to the Near East Relief to shelter some of the orphans evacuated from the danger regions of Asia Minor by the relief organization. Since the Smyrna disaster nearly twenty thousand children have been moved from Turkish territory to Greece.

"There are another 1400 Armenian boys at Corfu," said Mr. Vickrey, "housed in an old, abandoned warehouse. Most of them sleep on the floor, but some, more fortunate, occupy bins like shelving against the wall, piled in tiers six deep. Sleeping on the floors of the Zappeion Exposition Hall in Athens are a thousand other boys recently brought from Asia. In the Royal Palace itself, facing Constitution square in the heart of Athens, four hundred girls are housed, safe from Turkish oppression at last."

"In summer hotels along the sea coast between nine and ten thousand Armenian orphans have been given shelter but some other place will have to be found for them before the Greek summer season opens and the hotels must be surrendered. One of the biggest problems facing Near East Relief now is, where shall these orphans go? Until they are old enough to care for themselves and able to earn a living Near East Relief will not abandon them and will not again place them within reach of Turkish authority."

Ada patrons of the silent drama are wondering when their names will be included on the introductory list with movies shown here recently.

Recent pictures shown at a local theater were scheduled for six reels two of which were devoted to mentioning every body connected with the film industry in Hollywood from the producer to the janitor. So why not the audience?

SPLENDID ROMANCE IS "THE PRISONER OF ZENDA"

"The Prisoner of Zenda," which has thrilled thousands who have read the book or seen the play, has been made into photoplay by Rex Ingram, the man who leaped into the front rank of motion picture directors by his production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." This Metro picture, which comes to the McSwain theatre on today preserves all those elements which made the Edward Rose stage version of the novel by Anthony Hope, on which the photoplay is based, so popular.

It is a story of the adventures of Rudolf Rassendyll, a young Englishman who for a time became the king of the mythical country of Ruritania and who won the love of the Princess Flavia, after a series of plots and counterplots during which he is compelled to fight for his very life. Beautiful settings, gorgeous costumes, and an exceptional cast contribute to make this romance one which will be talked about by all lovers of good pictures.

In the cast are Lewis Stone, Robert Edeson, Alice Terry, Stuart Holmes, Ramon Navarro, Barbara La Marr, Malcolm McGregor, Edward Connelly and Lois Lee. The adaptation was done by Mary O'Hara and the photography by John F. Seitz.

LOUISIANA PLANS CHECK GAS WASTE

Largest Gas Yielding Field in World to Have Steps of Conservation.

MONROE, La., April 3.—The United States Bureau of Mines, having declared that the natural gas in this country is not inexhaustible, and that the supply is dwindling rapidly, persons interested in conservation of Louisiana's natural resources are launching a campaign with the object of either putting an end to the existence of carbon black plants in this state, or at least curbing their operations.

The north Louisiana gas field is the largest producing field in the world, and the wells in the Ouachita-Morehouse district now are giving up the enormous total of 1,380,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily for the manufacture of carbon black. Ninety per cent of this gas is wasted, it is claimed, and the conservationists have determined to do something to put a stop to it, if for no other reason than that industries in search of cheap fuel hesitate to locate in or near the field for fear the gas will be exhausted in the near future.

The Texas legislature recently refused to enact a law which would have permitted the establishment of carbon black plants in the gas fields now being developed in that state, and it is expected the Louisiana legislature at its next session will be called upon to take steps to remedy the situation here. Carbon black is used for many purposes, the best known of which is in the manufacture of printer's ink. It is nothing more than what is commonly known as soot, and its production is a simple process. The natural gas flame is permitted to burn against a metal plate across which a mechanical scraper moves. The carbon, or soot, is scraped off, falls into a conveyor and is carried to the packing room.

Profits from the business are enormous, and any attempt to break it up is certain to meet with stiff opposition, as was the case when the question was considered at the state constitutional convention two years ago.

The cost of drilling and piping a gas well which will produce from 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 feet of gas daily is placed at $20,000. Construction of a carbon plant capable of producing 3,600 pounds of carbon daily requires $100,000. The cost of a gasoline absorption plant which will produce from the gas, as a by-product from 1,500 to 2,000 gallons of gasoline daily is $50,000. The total investment represents $170,000.

The 3,600 pounds of carbon at 15 cents a pound will bring $540 and 1,500 gallons of gasoline at 15 cents a gallon $225, a gross daily operating income of $765. Operating expenses and supplies approximate $225 daily, leaving a net profit of $540. The net profit in one year is slightly less than $200,000 on an investment of $170,000. The plants are virtually automatic in operation, and Governor Parker has declared he knows of one consuming 10,000,000 feet of gas daily with a force of only eleven men. The plants operate night and day, seven days a week.

EUROPEAN TRADE TO BE ANALYZED SOON

(By the Associated Press)
NEW Orleans, April 4.—European conditions as relating to world trade will be the theme around which the National Foreign Trade Council's tenth annual convention here on May 2, 3, and 4 will concentrate, according to an announcement made by O. K. Davis, secretary of the council.

"This subject is by all odds the overshadowing factor in our foreign trade and domestic prosperity today," said Mr. Davis. "In spite of all that has been said on the subject, there does not yet seem to be a clear understanding of the part which Europe plays in our daily life. More than one-half our exports are sent to Europe; more than one-third of our imports come from Europe. Under such circumstances every man, woman and child in the United States is vitally interested in present European developments."

The first session on May 2 will be devoted almost exclusively to reports on the European situation and conditions, trade barriers and trading in the face of depressed exchange.

The May 3 session will take the farmers' interest in foreign trade, the need of foreign trade zones, and foreign trade facilities of the Federal Reserve System.

The inland waterways transportation, railroad service and the general shipping situation throughout the world will be the subjects before the convention on May 4.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla.—The cost of a recent city election here, at which a plan to change the city government was voted on, was only $248.05, according to an announcement by the election board. The account was turned over to the chamber of commerce which had agreed prior to the election to pay all costs.

FORD TACKS UP NEW SALE PEAK

Production Facilities Even Greater Than Enormous Sales Output.

Sales of Ford cars and trucks in the United States alone for the first quarter of 1923 reached the enormous total of 395,962, the greatest sales record in the history of the Ford Motor Company for a similar period of months. This is an increase of 135 percent over the same months last year when Ford retail deliveries totaled 368,500.

Even these stupendous figures do not indicate the number of sales which could have been made had production facilities been greater. Every month dealer requirements have been far in excess of the company's manufacturing ability. For May dealers' orders reached the enormous figure of 300,000 Ford cars and trucks.

Following the expenditures of millions of dollars for new machinery, expansion of manufacturing units and enlargements of assembly plants, necessary to maintain the exacting high standards of Ford manufacture, production has been greatly increased since the first of the year until at present the company is operating on a schedule in excess of 6,500 completed cars and trucks a day.

While reservations now are being put on early predictions that this year would see 3,000,000 cars and trucks produced in the United States, increasing demand for Ford Products will, all indications are, keep production at capacity rate for the remainder of the year, bringing it well over the million and a half mark by January 1, next, maintaining the established Ford percentage of producing as many cars and trucks as all other manufacturers combined.

Company, also were largely managed by the principal heir. George Jay Gould was born in New York City February 6, 1864, the sixth in line of descent from Major Nathan Gould, or Gold, the original ancestor, who came from the south of England in 1646 and settled in Fairfield, Conn. While many of Nathan Gould's descendants attained eminence in colonial affairs and through service in the Revolutionary War, it remained for Jay Gould to become the first financier.

George Jay Gould, even when quite young, showed an inclination to follow in the footsteps of his father. He received a thorough education from private instructors, and subsequently entered Columbia University, but was not graduated. After a tour of Europe, he became a clerk in the Western Union office, where he developed such an aptitude for detail that he soon became the assistant of his father. George Gould was at his desk ten hours a day, and often remained long into the night, learning the business which, when he became its vice-president a few years later, operated more than a million miles of telegraph wire.

This apprenticeship prepared him for the responsibility devolving upon him when Jay Gould died. Soon after he obtained full charge of his father's interests, he called upon J. Pierpont Morgan in regard to the purchase of the New York and Northern railway by the Manhattan Elevated road. Something was said which angered Mr. Gould, and he vowed never to enter the Morgan offices again.

Fearing, however, that he had made a powerful enemy, he determined to neutralize its effect by an alliance with the financial interests of the world. He called upon John D. Rockefeller, outlined his plans, and asked the oil magnate's advice. There was something in young Gould's manner that won the friendship of Mr. Rockefeller, and a plan for harmonious operation of the Rockefeller and Gould railroad interests was arranged.

Next, Mr. Gould seized upon a circumstance which brought him close to Andrew Carnegie, who was engaged in a controversy with the Pennsylvania railroad at the time. The Ironmaster offered Gould a liberal contract in exchange for bringing the Wabash road into Pittsburgh on its way to the Atlantic coast, and through these concessions the railroad builder secured another powerful friend.

For two decades after the death of his father, George Gould continued to manage the vast properties, and many financiers and railroad men have declared that he frequently surpassed his famous mentor in his capacity to weave an indefinite jumble of railroads into a definite and complete system.

He was a director of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway company, the Rio Grande Southern Railroad, the Utah Fuel Company and of the Manhattan Railway Company. During his career he had been president of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railway; President and chairman of the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific Railway; president of the Texas and Pacific Railway; president of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway; president of the International and Great Northern Railway; director of the Wabash Railroad, and vice president of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Farmers' Column

—By—
Byron Norrell

In a talk with the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Ada Tuesday evening, T. M. Jeffords, industrial agent of the Katy railroad, gave it as his observation that it is too often the case that land owners stand in their own light by not providing better dwellings and barns for their tenants. He gave comparative figures which indicated that Oklahoma is considerably behind some other states in this respect. His conclusion was that with better equipment on the farms a better class of tenants could be secured and thus both land owner and his tenants would profit accordingly.

W. C. Duncan, who at a meeting some weeks ago, made a strong talk along the same line, again emphasized his opinion that a long step forward towards the betterment of conditions in this county will be taken when the land owners realize the force of this argument and give more attention to this matter.

This prolonged norther has damaged young cotton considerably and will undoubtedly give the crop a setback that will require a season exceptionally favorable from now on to give the crop a chance to recover. It is seldom that such a spell of weather comes and stays as long in May as this one has.

Oklahoma Crop Notes.

Oklahoma will produce 10,945,000 bushels more wheat this year than last providing average weather conditions prevail from now until harvest. Such was the statement made recently by Jno. A. Whitehurst, president of the State Board of Agriculture. In spite of unfavorable drouth conditions at planting time, freezes in March and lack of rain in the Panhandle, where abandonment was extremely large, the abandonment of wheat in Oklahoma this winter was only 336,000 acres or 9 percent of the planted acreage.

The area remaining to be harvested is 3,397,000 acres compared with 3,800,000 acres harvested last year and a ten year average of 3,397,000 acres. The growing condition on May 1 was 83 percent of normal, compared with 80 percent last month and 75 percent on May 1, 1922. The condition figure of 83 percent is indicative of a production of 42,293,000 bushels, providing weather conditions remain on an average.

The condition of wheat is poorest and abandonment greatest in the Northwest district, comprising the nine counties lying west of Grant and Garfield. In the Panhandle section, including Harper county, of the Northwest district the condition is very poor being about 52 percent of normal with an abandonment of approximately 65 percent of the planted acreage. The main wheat belt, excepting a few of the extreme western counties, has the brightest prospects for a good crop that it has had in many years. In some of the northern counties the crop is a little late and the straw is expected to be short in these sections. It is reported from the Panhandle counties that where large acreages of winter wheat has been abandoned a considerable acreage of spring wheat has been planted and the crop is at present considered good.

With agricultural conditions as a whole improving and making rapid strides toward normalcy, much interest is expected to be taken in the special train being used this week over the Santa Fe lines to spread information concerning improved farming methods. The train is being run in the wheat belt, reaching thirty-four local centers scattered through ten northwestern counties. The State Board of Agriculture, Oklahoma A. & M. college, the Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association and the agricultural development department of the Santa Fe are all co-operating in the campaign.

The running of the special train has been timed to spread helpful information on handling the grain, preparing the soil for new crops and planning the succeeding year's cropping system just before farmers of the wheat belt begin harvesting the 1923 crop. The campaign is not to induce farmers to plant more acres to wheat, but to get more grain and more profit from the acres that are planted. Seventy-five counties in Oklahoma raise wheat. More acres are planted to wheat than any other single crop. In 1920, and again in 1921, wheat was Oklahoma's biggest money crop; but in 1922, it dropped to 3rd place in cash importance.

The State Grain Inspection department was created by the last legislature for two purposes; to provide a permanent and stabilized inspection department for the grain and milling trades, and to provide a means by which the farmers may have their grain graded under the federal grades, either for the purpose of protecting them against loss in storing grain that contains too much moisture to keep without heating, or for the purpose of selling it. This is a free service to farmers and will no doubt help them to help themselves. Write in for bulletin describing "State Grain Inspection and Its Relation to the Farmer."

NEW TURK TAXES

BRING CRITICISM

Government Lives in Isolation of Suggestions From Other Countries.

(By the Associated Press)

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 16.—The Grand National Assembly sits in its capital at Ankara, barred from contact with the outside world, almost inaccessible even to foreign diplomats whose intercourse must be through the medium of Dr. Adnan Bey, its representative in Constantinople. The government thus lives in an atmosphere of its own creation, unaffected by foreign comment on its actions, and to this condition is attributed some recent governmental actions which have aroused a measurable degree of foreign criticism.

Until recently the duty on flour into Turkey was one percent. On March 1 the rate was advanced to five percent, and made retroactive on all stocks still in warehouse and which had paid the old duty of one percent. It is recognized that the question of this duty is clearly a matter of internal administration, and it is accepted as such; only with the retroactive aspect have foreigners found fault.

A decree has been issued increasing the income tax five fold, and to include foreigners, and retroactive to the date of the foreigner's arrival in Turkey.

Another law increases the consumption tax on a certain fat product from five to 800 piasters, and it affects large stocks at present in transit contracted for when the levy was only five piasters.

In local business circles these awkward and unusual proceedings are ascribed largely to the ignorance of a popular government as yet unused to the intricacies of economic legislation. It is felt that the deputies do not realize the far reaching effects of such measures, nor their reaction in western lands.
